Sharon Kerwick is an Accredited Senior Appraiser with ASA and has been appraising in South Florida from Palm Beach to South Beach since 1976.

She is a noted speaker and teacher and, as an instructor for Florida Atlantic University, she taught classes on antiques, silver, oriental rugs, and collectibles, as well as on the profession of personal property appraising.

She has had contracts with various Government agencies, including Homeland Security, and has been a Special Master for the Broward Valuation Adjustment Board. She is available as an expert witness and for litigation support.

Sharon has worked with various Florida museums such as Fort Lauderdale Historical Museum, Museum of Art, and the Boca Raton Historical Museum, and Historical Houses such as Stranahan House. She also has worked as an appraiser on the Antiques Roadshow.

Four generations of the Kerwick family have lived in the Fort Lauderdale area and shared many stories about hurricanes and the damage they can cause. She hopes that you will benefit from her program about photographing personal property.
